—Arlington Shook, who was removed to Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, a few weeks ago, when it was expected that the amputation of a limb would be found necessary, was brought home Saturday night slightly improved and with a remote chance that the limb may yet be saved. —Deputy State Fish and Game Warden C. J. Kimmel of Mansfield was in town Saturday to look up the final decision in the case tried two or three years ago wherein the Chippewa Lake club sued certain owners of property abutting on the lake. The club had dammed up the outlet for the purpose it was claimed of enlarging the lake, by forcing the water upon the land. The owners of the land thus deluged protested in the courts both as to the encroachment and the further charge that the club would in the future lay claim to land thus covered by water. The property owners won their case in the lower court and the club appealed. Later the appeal was withdrawn and the case dismissed. Deputy Kimmel gathered this information Saturday, but for what purpose we are unable to learn.

PLAN THE FARM

Someone has quaintly said, "Men do usually covet great quantities of land; yet cannot manage a little well. There were amongst the Ancient Romans some appointed to see that men did till their lands as they should do, and if they did not, to punish them as Enemies to the Public; perhaps such a law would not be amiss with us, for without question the Public suffereth much by private men's negligence.—A little farm well tilled, is to be preferred."

Has it ever occurred to you, Mr. Farmer, that one of the greatest means of really making your community a more desirable and attractive place to live is to plan and conduct your farm in such a manner that the home is made attractive by a number of shade trees, neatly-arranged clumps of shrubbery and beds of flowers, a smooth, well kept lawn, and an attractive, convenient, and productive garden; that the crops so rotated and the fields so arranged and kept that the passerby cannot refrain from noticing them.

Such a farm must not be attractive alone, but must, first, last, and all the time, be productive. The fields, when rightly treated, should increase in fertility from year to year.

It is part of the duty of a country agriculturist to assist the farmers in planning their farms so that they may become more productive and attractive.

SENTENCED TO WORKHOUSE

John and Walter Palmer, cousins, who confessed to unlawfully entering and robbing the home of John Dix, near Chippewa Lake about three weeks ago, received a sentence each of four months in the Canton workhouse and $100 fine by Probate Judge Kennan Monday afternoon and were taken to Canton Tuesday afternoon by Sheriff Gehman.

In delivering the sentence Judge Kennan explained to the boys that they were not given a more severe sentence because of the recommendation of both Prosecutor Underwood and Sheriff Gehman and because of his own belief that they were not naturally vicious boys. The latter claim Indiana, Pa., as their home and said they were driven to dishonest acts on account of not being able to get work.

About an hour and a half after being taken to jail the boys managed to gain their liberty by thrusting an arm through the square opening in the outside door of the jail proper and turning the key in the door, and up to this time have not been found. Sheriff Gehman immediately notified the officials of all surrounding towns and offered a reward of $25 for their apprehension.

With the long workhouse sentence staring them in the face it was probable that the temptation to escape was too much for them when an opportunity presented itself. On account of their youth and the probability that they were not hardened criminals, the boys were accorded privileges by the sheriff which otherwise they would not have enjoyed. All things considered, inasmuch as Mr. Dix regained his stolen property and the county saved the big expense of a trial by the boys confessing, the community is about as well off the way the affair has turned out.

COONSKIN CURRENCY

It is not a generally known historical fact that from 1774 to 1784 territory now known as Tennessee formed a part of North Carolina, and that in 1785 the Tennesseans, becoming dissatisfied with their government, organized a state government under the name of "Frankland," which was maintained for some years. The state thus organized was afterward disbanded and territorial Tennessee was again annexed to North Carolina, says a recent writer on the subject.

In 1838, in a speech, by Daniel Webster on the currency, he gave the following as among the laws passed by the legislation of the state of Frankland:

"Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Frankland, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from Jan. 1, 1789, the salaries of the common-wealth be as follows:

"His excellency, the governor, per annum, 1,000 deerskins.
"His honor, the chief justice, per annum, 500 deerskins.
"The secretary to his excellency, the governor, per annum, 500 raccoon skins.
"The treasurer of the state, 450 raccoon skins.

"Each county clerk, 300 beaver skins.
"Clerk of house of commons, 200 raccoon skins.
"Members of the assembly, per diem three raccoon skins.
"Justices' fee for signing a warrant, one muskrat skin.
"To the constable for serving a warrant, one mink skin.

The approaching wheat harvest gives promise of a most abundant yield. Correspondents estimate present prospect at 99 per cent. This average is based upon fifteen bushels per acre, being represented by 100 per cent. On the corresponding date one year ago prospect was estimated at 103 per cent, and the harvest resulted in an estimated production of approximately 29,000,000 bushels.

The estimated area to be harvested this year exceeds the acreage of 1914 by almost 173,000 acres. The total production should equal, if not exceed that of last year. In the northwest and northeast sections of the state, the prospect will average 107 per cent.

The sections contain some of the best wheat producing counties of the state. In the southwest and the southeast sections of the state the prospect averages 93 per cent. As stated in previous reports issued by this department, Ohio cannot produce normal wheat yields until the acreage seeded is materially increased.

The recent rainfalls have proven very beneficial to oats. Oats growing condition is good and the prospects for the harvest are estimated at 92 per cent, compared with normal yield. One year ago the prospect was estimated at 83 per cent. The present acreage exceeds that of last year. The market price of oats is estimated at 56 cents per bushel. One year ago oats sold at 44 cents per bushel.

Timothy prospect is below an average. The report shows 80 per cent, compared with normal yield. The clover has been slightly damaged by grub worm.
